Fellow P&DARCS Members

Great news! With a much lower than forecast rainfall, some wind and a bit of sunshine we are pleased to announce that the P&DARCS will be opened for partial operations on Saturday morning as normal. The western carpark and western runway will remain closed as that area is still far too wet. A lot of the ground is still very damp but most of the water has managed to drain away. Some other areas may still be barricaded off so please remain clear of those.

Bear in mind that the pit areas and shaded areas will still be damp so exercise some caution when walking around and placing your models.

On Friday morning, the main and eastern runways were mown as well as parts of the pit area. Hopefully the weekend weather will be kind and we can enjoy some flying.

In other club business, you are now able to access some new club merchandise from the P&DARCS website. Once you click on the link, you can choose the items you want just like any other online shopping cart. Make absolutely certain that you have selected the correct size for your shirts as once they are ordered, they are non-refundable if the size is not right. You will receive a return email if you want your name or other wording added to the shirt. You must provide the wording EXACTLY (including capitals) as you want it to appear on the shirt. If you spell it incorrectly, that's how it will appear on the shirt. Check it twice.

In addition, the committee is aware of the latest updates to the COVID restrictions as of midnight on Thursday. We will assess this over the weekend and convene on Monday evening to make an official announcement. Until that point, our field is operating under the current COVID entry rules as detailed on our website.

As always, we will keep our members updated as the situation changes.
